HOTELS.

LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN HOUSE.

Near Chattanooga, Tenn.

THERE is no more pleasant spot for a Summer residence than the summit of Lookout Mountain. The scenery is most beautiful and affords great delight to the lovers of nature.

Looking to the North and East, from the MOUNTAIN HOUSE, a varied landscape is seen. To the left flows the placid Tennessee, winding in and out among the hills, till far away in the distance its waters seem to blend with the clouds. Wooded hills and rich valleys, with waving fields of corn and grain, extend as far as the eye can reach in the horizon, where the faint outlines of the Great Smoky Mountains are seen traced upon the sky.

It has all the telegraph and mail facilities, being but an hour's ride from Chattanooga, and is a First-Class Hotel.

Here in the peaceful days before the war, the beauty and intelligence of the South came every Summer to breathe the pure mountain air, and it will soon again be the favorite Summer resort of all who, tired of the dust and heat of crowded cities, desire relaxation of mind and invigoration of body, amid the finest scenery in the country.

A Card.

WE will at once rebuild our warehouse, and will have it completed by the 15th of September, but by the first day of that month we will be ready to receive goods on storage.

The sheds will be divided into fire proof compartments by brick walls, and covered with tin. Those who have patronized us for the last two seasons, and those who may have proposed to do so the approaching one, may rest assured we will be ready for them.

We design est ablishing a Cotton Compress in connection with our warehouse, and will in a short time put in operation a first-class press, which will be ready by the 1st or 15th of October. The position of our establishment to the river renders the handling of cotton so convenient that we can transfer cotton for shipment on the river nearly one-half cheaper. The advantage of the position is equal to one dollar per bale on cotton sent or compressment from other warehouses, and handling all cotton in our warehouse for compressment there can be two drayages saved, which would be as easy for us to transfer it from our sheds to the Compress as to turn it out in the ordinary way for transfer by drays.

THE MEMPHIS APPEAL

SUNDAY READING.

THOUGHTS ELABORATED FROM THE WORD.

20. That we are sinners by constitution and actual transgression, being destitute of all inherent holiness or righteousness; so that to become holy and righteous we must be constituted the righteousness of God in Christ.

21. That Matthew gives the geneology of Jacob the father of Joseph, the husband of Mary, from Abraham in the line of David, Solomon and Zarahalel; by which lineage it is demonstrated that Jacob and Joseph were descendants of Abraham in the Royal Line.

22. That Luke gives the geneology of Heli, the father of Mary, from Adam and Abraham in the line royal of David' Nathan and Zorobabel; thus the families of Jacob and Heli were two Branches of the Royal House.

23. That David's Throne and Kingdom were decreed to the Heirs Male, as proved by 2 Sam. vii. A daughter of David, or female descendant, could not, therefore, ascend the Throne. The right of the Princess Mary, derived from her father Heli of the Elder Branch, would, consequently, give way to those of Joseph, son of Jacob, though descended from the younger son of David.

24. That the families of Nathan the elder, and of Solomon the younger of the sons of David, by Bathsheba, united in Zorobabel, governor of Judah under the Persians; from Zorobabel the family again divided into the branches terminating in Jacob and Heli.

25. That by the marriage of Joseph, son of Jacob, with Mary, daughter of Heli, the two branches from Zorobabel were again united; so that all right and title to the throne and kingdom of David concentered in Mary's First Born. He therefore became the Head and Hope of the family and nation; hence is styled the Branch, but dying without issue, the royal house in the direct line became extinct.

26. Jesus, the grandson of Heli, being born of Joseph's wife, was born hereditary King of the Jews. Heli married the sister of the father of Elizabeth, the wife of Zacharish and mother of John the baptizer, who was, therefore, second-cousin to Jesus. Elizabeth was of the daughters of Aaron; consequently Mary, daughter of Heli and mother of Jesus, was of the house of David by her father, and of the house of Aaron by her mother: so that in her son Jesus was not only vested the high birth and the marriage of his mother, all kingly rights, but all Rego-Pontifical as well. In Jesus, therefore, is united the combined kingly and high priestly offices of the nation of Israel: so that when the government shall be upon his shoulders, he will sit as a priest upon his throne, after the order of Melchizedec, being without predecessor or successor in the united office of King and Priest.

27. From all which it is evident that if there lives any one who has a right to David's throne, it can only be Jesus, and therefore he must have been raised from the dead; that if the Jews of this age were to agree to restore David's throne, they could not effect it, though all other things might favor, because they could not find a son of David to occupy it. Hence there is none but Jesus, or establish it but God, who retains at his right hand the only descendant of David who is alive.

28. That the period occupied by the Kingdom of God and of David's son, is "the dispensation of the fullness of times" which lasts 1000 years. That this is the Day of Judgment, when Messiah shall sit upon David's throne, judging the living and them that were dead, in his kingdom. That this periodic day is the world to come, or future age, of which Paul speaks in Hebrews, when the saints judge the world, and the unjust are punished according to their works.

29. That the Scriptures classify mankind according to the times and circumstances under which they live; that these are times of ignorance and times of knowledge; that under the former, they are "alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them," being permitted to walk in their own ways, and receiving in themselves that recompense of their error which is meet: that this class though in part accountable, are irresponsible, and therefore are not the subjects of a resurrection to judgment or to life: that this class is composed of two orders of beings, the one accountable, the other not able to give an account, but both, from circumstances peculiar to their case, irresponsible, and the heirs, therefore, only of what the constitution of the kingdom of sin, under which the human race has been involuntarily placed, may give them a title to. That it is light or knowledge which make accountable men responsible, men are subdivided into three orders—first, those who would not receive the light; second, those who receive and continue it; and third, those who, having once received it, turn from it. That "sinners," "wicked," "unjust" and "just," are terms idicative of these orders of men. That the third order is composed of "cursed children," "who awake from the dust to everlasting shame and contempt," while the "wicked" or "rest of the dead five not again till the 1000 years are ended." That the second order is composed of "blessed" children, who are to inherit the kingdom prepared for them.

30. That the dispensation of 1000 years is the state intermediate between the times of the Gentiles and the eternal state. That to enter the eternal world, we must pass through the intermediate dispensation of the future age

Loxahoma, Miss., July, 1867.

THE VOICE OF NATURE.

BY CARRIE BELL SINCLAIR.

Upward! onward! Lo! all Nature
Teaches us the lesson wise;
Child, thou mortal, wisdom from it—
Let thy thoughts still upward rise!

Let the voice of Nature, speaking,
Rouse thee to life's earnest toil;
For the soul within thy bosom
Must not throb on barren soil!

Every thing that God has fashioned
Grateful offerings to Him bring;
Flowers their perfume scatter round us,
Birds their notes of music sing;

And this broad, bright world around us,
God has made so very fair;
Giving flowers and rain and sunshine,
Every gloomy path to cheer!

And shall MAN—in His own image—
Living, breathing soul within,
Bear no fruits to bloom and brighten
Earthly paths, all dark with sin?

Upward let thy hand be lifted—
Onward let thy footsteps speed!
'Tis the lesson Nature teaches—
Mortal, then, the lesson heed.

Upward! onward!—ever onward!
Thou will reach the glorious goal;
Bare thy bosom to the tempest,
As Life's billows round thee roll.

Onward flows the murmuring river,
Aye through light and darkness back;
Bar the waves, still moving onward,
Leave behind a shining track!

Onward goes the mighty tempest,
Sweeping by in all its wrath;
Pausing not, amid the ruin
It has scattered in its path!

Onward roll the the ocean billows,
Rushing their wild song, ah! ever!
And the murmuring wave still whispers,
Onward—onward!—onward ever!

Upward!—onward! is the watchword:
Mortal, heed the warning well;
Every moment speeding onward
Some good deed of thine should tell.

Onward!—onward!—ever onward
Like the billow's ceaseless roll;
Speed thou on Life's noble mission,
Honest hand and earnest soul!

Onward to the Great Eternal,
Speaks the awful voice of Time!
Let the soul within thy bosom
Echo back the glorious chime!

See the lovely flower just bursting
Strives to lift its lowly head,
Struggling till it soars in beauty
Far above its humble bed.

And its petals upward lifted
Meet the sunshine and the dew;
And the holy breath of heaven
Gives it life and fragrance new!

So will God fresh courage grant us,
Even in the darkest hour,
If we lift our faith to Heaven,
Like the humble, drooping flower!

With the homage Nature brings thee,
Oh! then look to God and Love;
We would wait the grateful offering
Of the soul's incense above!

ACOTSA, Va.

AFFECTING SKETCH.

In a cemetery near Seville is a very beautiful though simple marble cross, on which are engraved these three lines, in Spanish:

"I believe in God;
I hope for God;
I love God."

It is the grave of a poor boy, the only son of a widow. He was not exactly an idiot, but what people call a "natural." Good, simple, humble, every one loved him; but no one could teach him anything. His intelligence was in some way at fault. He could remember nothing. In vain the poor mother put him first at school and then to a trade; he could not learn. At last, in despair, she took him to a neighboring monastery and implored the abbot, who was a most charitable, holy man, to take him in and keep him as a lay brother. Touched by her grief, the abbot consented, and the boy entered the convent. There all possible pains were taken with him by the good monks to give him at least some ideas of religion; but he could remember nothing but these three sentences. Still, he was so patient, so laborious, and so good, that the community decided to keep him. When he had finished his hard out-of-door work, instead of coming in to rest, he would go straight to the church, and there remain on his knees for hours. "But what does he do?" exclaimed one of the novices. "He does not know how to pray. He neither understands the office nor the sacraments, nor the ceremonies of the church." They therefore hid themselves in a side chapel, close to where he always knelt, and watched him when he came in. Devoutly kneeling, with his hands clasped, his eyes fastened on the tabernacle, he did nothing but repeat over and over again, "I believe in God; I hope for God; I love God." One day he was missing; they went to his cell, and found him dead on the straw, with his hands joined, and an expression of the same ineffable peace and joy they had remarked on his face when in church. They buried him in this quiet cemetery, and the abbot caused these words to be graven on his cross. Soon a lily was seen flowering by the grave, where no one had sown it; the grave was opened, and the root of the flower was found in the heart of the orphan boy.

A GENTLE WHISPER.

Husbands, think of the good qualities of your beloved, not of her bad ones; think of her good common sense, her industry, neatness, order; her kindness, affability, and, above all, her ardent piety, her devotedness to things heavenly and divine. Suppose you had a slattern for a wife, a shrilled hussy, a gossip, a real termagant, whose tongue was but merely a trip-hammer, but as the forked lightning, so that even the housetop would be a thankful retreat from her unmitigated fury! Suppose all this, and still more, and then say, has not God dealt very kindly, graciously, mercifully, in giving you such a wife? God has dealt infinitely better than your deserts.

"But she is not all I could wish?"

Marvelous! Wonderful! And are you all she could wish? Turn the wallet. Suppose you cast an eye within and without, view your own ugliness and blackness! How many things does your beloved wife see in you that she has reason to despise as mean, selfish, miserly, groveling? Are you all that she could wish? Far from it.

ONE BY ONE.

BY ADELAIDE A. PROCTOR.

One by one the sands are flowing,
One by one the moments fall;
Some are coming, some are going;
Do not strive to grasp them all.

One by one thy duties wait thee,
Let thy whole strength go to each;
Let no future dreams elate thee,
Learn thou first what these can teach.

One by one (bright gifts from Heaven)
Joys are sent thee here below;
Take them readily when given,
Ready, too, to let them go.

One by one thy griefs shall meet thee;
Do not fear an armed band;
One will fade as others greet thee;
Shadows passing through the land.

Do not look at life's long sorrow;
See how small each moment's pain;
God will help thee for to-morrow,
So each day begin again.

Every hour that fleets so slowly
Has its tasks to do or bear;
Luminous the crown, and holy,
When each gem is set with care.

Do not linger with regretting,
Or for passing hours despond;
Nor the daily toil forgetting,
Look too eagerly beyond.

Hours are golden links, God's token,
Reaching heaven; but one by one
Take them, lest the chain be broken,
Ere the pilgrimage be done.

THE SABBATH.

"Welcome sweet day of rest;" no books to post, no orders to fill, no projects to think over, no politics to discuss; none of the thousand wearying, anxious, lengthening cares of the every day world to-day. They are all cast off with yesterday's coat to be resumed to-morrow, but resumed after one day of quietude and tranquility. How sweet comes the peace of this Sabbath morning! After the many agitations and toils of the week! Balmy as odors of orient spice groves; gentle as the breath of sleeping infancy; soft as the dying winds of evening; pure as the incense that rises before the throne of God comes the calm of this holy morning! No busy tolls and clangs of bells; no busy thoroughfares, and noisy shops and on toilsome wharves to-day—it is the day of home. Home hushed and quiet; home peaceful and full of comfort. To-day the father is at home and the mother, free from the week-day cares, lies beside him, and memories of Sundays in the by-gone time, when shy love made the day of repose a time of joy come back. Father is at home, and the little ones hang at his knees telling their joys and troubles of the past week, and rejoicing that for a whole day ya will be their company, and lavish upon them, uninterruptedly, his loving words and smiles. Pure, sweet, holy, is the day of rest in the family—but it is all too brief; transient as the outline of the silvery vapor that floats on the summer sky, for the rush and turmoil of the troubled and troubling world will come back to-morrow! Let not that thought mar the gentle joy of this day, for there is a home whose peace is never interrupted—those joy is never broken, whose repose dreads no to-morrow, and a part of the privilege and happiness of to-day is to secure a place in that family whose circle is united home forever and forever.

RELICS.

Ay, Gather them up, those relics so dear,
Tenderly, tenderly press them;
Treasure them more of a hoarded gear,
When loving fingers caressed them;
There's a memory woven with every gift,
Rainbow pencilled in tears and smiles.

They're valued in gold can never be told,
Their value in gold can never be told,
But the heart knows their worth and their splendor.

From the casket of pears looks a picture face,
With eyes that are full of soul;
Here's a toy that was made in frolicsome sport,
And a ring of Indian gold;
A faded flower, with red and pressed,
With its fragrance lingering yet;
It was culled for him in the early spring,
When its leaves with dew were wet.

A package of letters, a tinted shell,
And a tress of soft brown hair;
All, turn aside from the book of that,
For the tears are falling there;
Crush back the drops to their fount again,
And smooth the saddened brow;
Save the memory of the beautiful Past,
This is all that is left thee now.

Close the casket with the lingering touch,
Let the light of the love-beam die;
Wild rages the storm without, to-night,
But all is peace within;
With clasped hands and bowed head,
Thy Father's love implore;
Guide thou life's frail bark through wind and wave,
Safe to the other shore.

ANOTHER LAKE ONTARIO WONDER

Descent of a Meteor—A Grand and Startling Spectacle.

From the Hamilton, Ontario, Times.

Capt. Turner, of the schooner Algerine, who arrived in this city this morning, reports having witnessed at about the hour of 11 o'clock on Wednesday night a terrific and splendid phenomenon in the descent of an immense meteor into Lake Ontario, which struck the water not more than three hundred yards from his vessel. The captain states that a few moments previous to the appearance, he had come up from his cabin on deck, and was standing on the main hatch. The vessel was on the starboard tack, sailing along finely with a light southwest breeze for Port Dalhousie, and about twelve miles off the Niagara lighthouse, bearing S. S. W. Presently his attention was attracted by a sudden illumination from the northwest, which almost instantly increased to a dazzling brilliancy. On turning, he beheld a large body of fire in the heavens, which seemed to be approaching at a descent of about eighty degrees, and growing rapidly larger as it came nearer, the observation of time being so brief as hardly to admit of computation in seconds. The momentary impression of Capt. Turner was that certain and complete destruction awaited his vessel and all on board, as the terrific missile seemed to be directed to strike the vessel broadside. The time for reflection, however, was brief, and the light emitted was so blinding in its effect that the man at the wheel and another of the crew on deck fell prostrate, and remained some time completely stupefied with terror. The captain himself, as he states, remained transfixed, and saw the fiery body enter the water some 300 yards ahead of his vessel, about two points to the windward. A loud explosion attended the contact with the water, which was sharp and deafening, equal to a thunderbolt close at hand, and a large volume of steam and spray ascended into the air, which was noticed for some moments afterward. In the confusion of the moment, Capt. Turner was unable to comprehend what had occurred, and the crew were inclined to believe that the phenomenon was an explosion of lightning, the sky being perfectly cloudless at the time. The captain estimates as well as he was enabled to judge from the brief time for observation afforded, that the meteor was a body of about twenty feet in diameter. A long tail of the most intense brilliancy was noticed as it struck the water. As Capt. Turner describes his sensations his faculties for the moment were all compressed in the sense of sight, so overwhelming was the light from the fiery object, but he believes he was sensible to a terrific whizzing, howling noise, similar to that made by the steam issuing from the escape pipe of a steamer, which attended the meteor previous to the grand explosion on striking the water. Capt. Turner arrived at Port Dalhousie on Wednesday morning. He assures us that his nervous system did not recover from the shock experienced for many hours afterward.

STATE ITEMS.

—The Banner of the 6th records the following outrage, by three of Brownlow's followers, in the capital city of the State, and under the very eyes of the commanding general. Well may it be asked, who is safe? "Three drunken white militiamen entered a gentleman's house on north College, near Jackson street, about eight o'clock last night, and finding his wife in the sitting room alone, one of them sat down by her side. He was about to offer a further indignity by placing his hand in her lap, when her cries for help brought in a young man, who no sooner entered the room than he was knocked senseless to the floor. The scoundrels made their escape. The husband soon after appeared with a double barrel shot gun, but only too late to avenge the insult offered to his wife. From the same paper we cull further particulars of the outrage which led to the seizure of Dr. N. and N. W. railroad, and the appointment of Gen. William P. Innes as receiver by the governor, the appointment to take effect on the first of October. This road is behind in interest due the state $150,000. The sum total of future debt, due on the first of July last, was $201,064, which was reduced by the payment of $40,000.

The interest due from January, 1862, to January, 1868, $892,850, was funded, so that on the large sum interest has been accumulating, in addition to that on the $2,672,000 state bonds loaned to the company.

President Burns has gone to New York for the purpose, we hear, of raising money sufficient to relieve the road from the claim held by the state on the score of interest. There is good reason to believe that his mission will be successful, and that the road will remain under the control of the company.

—The state comptroller paid a citizen of Sumner county on Friday, seventy-five dollars for killing wildcats. A bounty amounting, we believe, to three dollars, is awarded for each of these animals killed within the limits of the state.

—The Knoxville Free Press says: Judge Lucky, of Jonesboro, is an applicant for the vacant United States senatorship.

—The Springfield Inquirer, of the 5th inst., says: We learn that on Friday night last, a ferocious animal, supposed to be a panther, visited the premises of Mr. Lucien Woodard, living four miles east of this place, killing his guard dog. The dog was torn almost into strings. Considerable excitement pervades the community in which this occurred, and we hear that much hunting is being done by the citizens for the animal.

—We hasten to offer to Messrs. M. Munford and Wm. Sandford, editors, the amende honorable for any supposed editorial discourtesy, in failing to mention the debut of their well printed and sprightly sheet, the Rebel Rose, published at Covington, and assure them that our silence was simply attributable to the fact that we did not receive a copy of their paper until the present week, and hence could not earlier place the Record on our exchange list, as we now very cheerfully do.

Noon Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, September 7.—At the cabinet meeting yesterday the amnesty proclamation was discussed and agreed upon without opposition. The exceptional cases are only four. 1. All against whom legal proceedings have been instituted. 2. All who have been foreign agents, so called. 3. All who have been in military and naval service above the rank of brigadier general in the army, or captain in the navy. The fourth class was not clearly defined, but is supposed to apply to all those implicated in the assassination conspiracy.

The dedication of the Antietam national cemetery takes place to-day. The president and cabinet will attend, also the governors of several states, and the mayors and councils of several cities.

INDIANAPOLIS, September 7.—The Sengerfest ended yesterday with a grand ball at Fest's Hall. The rain in the morning somewhat interfered with the pic-nic, but a large crowd was in attendance in the afternoon. Senator Morton delivered an address in English, and Judge Stalle, of Cincinnati, one in German.

HARTFORD, CT., September 7.—The West Harford reservoir gave way yesterday, flooding the valley beneath for a distance of two miles around. Immense damage was done to private property. The city will have to resort to pumps in order to draw the water from the cellars, etc.

A terrible accident occurred yesterday on the Naugatuck railroad. The passenger train broke through the bridge near Thomastown, and the baggage car was precipitated into the

A SECOND DANIEL COME TO JUDGMENT.

DEAN SWIFT says:

"I have read somewhere of an Eastern King, who put a Judge to death for an iniquitous sentence, and ordered his hide to be stuffed into a cushion, and placed upon the tribunal for the son to sit on, who was preferred to the father's office. I fancy such a memorial might not have been unuseful to a son of Sir William Scroggs; and that both he and his successors would often wriggle in their seats, as long as the cushion lasted."

Going the Oxford Circuit with Lord Chief Justice ATKYNS, Chief Justice SCROGGS told the Grand Jury that a petition from the Lord Mayor and citizens of London to the King, for calling a Parliament, was high treason.

We have not quite reached that point in the law yet, in Tennessee; but the prospect of doing so speedily is very flattering. For we find the following in the Radical organ at Nashville:

JUDGE BRIEN'S CHARGE TO THE GRAND JURY.]

Judge M. M. Brien yesterday, in charging the grand jury, dwelt at length on the solemnity imposed by their oaths, and by the law of the land upon grand jurors, as regards violations of the sedition law, and the corruption of the elective franchise.

His remarks were fearless, just and well-timed. It is time, as his honor remarked, that those disturbers of the public peace, who go about vilifying the state and national governments in public harangues, should be made to feel the full force of those wise and just laws they so flippantly decry. He instructed the jury that as for any one to speak in insulting and opprobrious terms of the state government for the purpose of creating unrest and dissatisfaction among the people; to denounce, as had become too common, the legislature of the state as bogus and unconstitutional, and the executive and judiciary officers of the state as usurpers, was in plain violation of this law, and that it was their province and duty to ferret out all persons thus offending, and bring them to punishment.

He also instructed the jury at length in regard to offenses against the election and franchise laws of the states, informing them it was their sworn duty to punish by indictment each and every person who, in the recent election for governor and members of congress, had bribed or endeavored to bribe, or who had intimidated or endeavored to intimidate, any voter, with the intent and for the purpose of influencing his vote. That there were offenses against the criminal laws of the state, not only, but also against the integrity and good morals of the commonwealth, and were deserving of the severest punishment. He also told the jury that it did not matter how the voter was endeavored to be influenced and intimidated; that for the employer to threaten to discharge or to discharge the poor and dependent voter unless he should vote in a certain way was a gross violation of this law, and was indictable; that these laws were to be enforced; that they were wise and just, demanded and made necessary in order to preserve in their purity republican institutions; and that they were not to be construed strictly, but liberally.

It is the law, then, in Tennessee, that it is crime, punishable by indictment, for any one "to speak in insulting and opprobrious terms against the State Government, for the purpose of creating unrest and dissatisfaction among the people," and as the law creating this new offence, is not to be construed strictly, according to the principles of that English law which favoured liberty, but liberally, no doubt 'Judge' BRIEN would instruct a jury that the purpose is to be inferred from the language used, and need not be proven. Very innocent language, under this rule of construction, might be deemed "insulting and opprobious," and likely to create unrest and dissatisfaction. "May it please your Honour," THOS. F. MARSHALL once said to a Kentucky Magistrate, "I beg your Honour to fine me." "Fine you ?" said the Magistrate, "for what, Mr. MARSHALL." "For contempt, if your Honour please." "Contempt, Mr. MARSHALL? the court is not aware that you have been guilty of any contempt of court." "Fine me, may it please your Honour," said MARSHALL, "I assure you I have the most profound contempt for the court." As the Judiciary is part of the Government, perhaps that remark would have been deemed by his Honour Judge BRIEN "insulting and opprobrious," and spoken for the purpose of creating "unrest and dissatisfaction."

It is the law, then, in Tennessee, that it is a crime punishable by fine and imprisonment, to denounce the Legislature of the State as unconstitutional, and "the Executive and Judiciary officers" of the State as usurpers; for which persons ought to be "ferreted out"? Isn't it also a high crime and misdemeanor to argue that a law, passed by the Legislature, is unconstitutional? We hold it to be clear that the Convention which undertook to amend the Constitution a few years ago, was an unlawful assembly, not possessed of the slightest right to alter that instrument. We hold that the present State Government is unlawful, because Congress has solemnly enacted that all the State governments in the other Southern States are so, Arkansas and Louisiana included, which were reconstructed under authority from President LINCOLN, precisely as Tennessee was. The present thing called the Constitution of Arkansas was made by precisely such a bogus body as met in Nashville, called by the same authority, of members got together in the same way, and many of them, as of those at Nashville, representing nobody. If the Government of Arkansas, so created, was not legal, so neither was that of Tennessee; and Congress could not make it to have been or to be legal, by admitting the State to ity of Congress, we hold that the State Government of Tennessee is not a lawful government; that the schedule made for the Constitution was void, and that the disfranchisement of white men, and the investiture of negroes with the right of suffrage are in law nullities. That is our opinion on certain legal and constitutional points. Is it the law in Tennessee that it is a crime to express that opinion, for which we ought to be "ferreted out?"

It is the law, then, in Tennessee, that it is an indictable offence for the employer of a negro to tell him that if he votes to continue his employer's disfranchisement, he, the employer, can no longer employ him!

We can refer Judge BRIEN to an authority on this first point, which had probably escaped his observation. If it had been known to him, it is so fully in point that he would certainly have cited it.

JAMES the Second, of England, who was a Papist, exercised the power of dispensing with an act of Parliament which incapacitated Papists to hold office. By judicious removals and appointments of Judges, he got together twelve, of the three Courts, King's Bench, Common Pleas and Exchequer, and obtained their opinion that he did possess that power. It was a judicial opinion, because it was given in a sham action brought against Sir EDWARD HALES, for exercising an office without having made the declaration against transubstantiation or taken the oath of Supremacy, in which the King's dispensation was pleaded in bar, and the plea demurred to.

We pause to ask the reader to note what an admirable precedent Tennessee has for her test oath, administered to persons proposing to vote, by irresponsible appointees of the Governor; and how our Governor,—may he live a thousand years, somewhere,—follows the royal precedents of JAMES, by dispensing with that provision of the Constitution that gives the people the right to elect their Judges, and relieving the people of that trouble by himself appointing "the Judiciary officers" of the Government. LOUIS NAPOLEON, also, has a censorship of the press; but he does not commission any Judge BRIEN to indict journals for the first offence. He is mild and merciful enough to give them warning, that they may have an opportunity to mend their ways.

But we hasten to furnish Judge BRIEN with the authority in point. The Archbishop of Canterbury and six Bishops presented the King a remonstrance against his exercise of the dispensing power, insisting that it was unconstitutional. Judge BRIEN, construing the sedition law liberally, would have said that they denounced the law as unconstitutional. The King caused the seven Bishops to be indicted for publishing a libel. All the Judges but one or two, on the trial, held it to be a libel. Honest Justice POWELL declared to the jury that it was not so, and that the King had not the dispensing power; but ALLYBONE, Justice, said:

"No man can take upon him to write against the actual exercise of the Government unless he have leave from the Government. If he does, he makes a libel, be what he writes true or false. If we once come to impeach the Government by way of argument, it is argument that makes Government or no Government." [Mark the logic!] "So I lay down, that the Government ought not to be impeached by argument, nor the exercise of the Government shaken by argument. Am I to be allowed to discredit the King's Ministers, because I can manage a proposition, in itself doubtful, with a better pen than another man? This I say is libel" [and sedition also: Per BRIEN J. in re The State of Tennessee vs. Constitutional Liberty and Freedom of Speech, two pestilent disturbers of the peace.] "My next position is that no private man can take upon him to write concerning the Government at all;" [mark that, Judge BRIEN !],—"for what has any private man to do with the Government? It is the business of the Government to manage matters relating to the Government; it is the business of subjects to mind only their private affairs." [It is the business of BROWNLOW to manage Brownlowdom; it is the business of his subjects to mind their private affairs. If they do not, "put your heads together," colored gentlemen of the jury, and find them guilty of sedition.] "If the Government does come to shake my particular interest, the law is open for me, and I may redress myself; but when I intrude myself into matters which do not concern my particular interest, I am a libeller. And truly the attack is the worse if under a specious pretence; for by that rule every man that can put on a good vizard may be as mischievous as he will, so that whether it be in the form of a supplication, or an address, or a petition, let us call it by its true denomination, it is a libel."

We commend Judge BRIEN to a careful study of this valuable authority.

Lord HALE said, that when the law is broken down, injustice knows no bounds, but runs as far as the wit and invention of accusers, or the detestation of persons accused will carry it." Let Judge BRIEN's plan of "ferreting out" the cases of free speech and the exercise of a clear right, which he pronounces crimes, and there will be delators and informers more than enough.

In the case of THOMAS PAINE, indicted for a misdemeanor in publishing THE RIGHTS OF MAN, Mr. ERSKINE said:

"The liberty of the press has been, in every country, the last liberty which subjects have been able to wrest from power. Other liberties are held under Governments, but the liberty of opinion keeps GOVERNMENTS themselves in due subjection to their duties. This has produced the martyrdom of truth in every age. . . . .

"When men can freely communicate their thoughts and their sufferings, real or imaginary, their passions spend themselves on air, like gunpowder scattered upon the surface;—but pent up by terrors, they work unseen, burst forth in a moment, and destroy everything in their course. Let reason be opposed to reason, and argument to argument, and every good government will be safe. . . . .

In proportion, as the Press has been free, English government has been secure.

"I shall ever maintain it to be the dearest privilege of the people of Great Britain to watch over everything that affects their happiness, either in the system of government or in the practice; and that for this purpose THE PRESS MUST BE FREE. It has always been so, and much evil has been arrested by it. If Government finds itself annoyed by it, let it examine its own conduct, and it will find the cause,—let it amend it, and it will find the remedy.

"No civil Government will ever be battered by paper-shot. Montesquieu says, 'that in a free nation it matters not whether individuals reason well or ill. It is sufficient that they do reason. Truth arises from the collision, and from hence arises liberty. Which is a security from the effect of reasoning.'"

We venture to predict that the Conservative press of Tennessee will not shrink from the performance of its duty in consequence of the judicial scourge which Judge BRIEN uplifts over their heads. Power is indeed drunken with success when it undertakes to stifle by force and terror the discussion of its own legitimacy. The time has not yet come when Tennessee has ceased to be one spot "where man can freely exercise his reason on the most important concerns of society, where he can boldly publish his judgment on the acts of the proudest and most powerful tyrants."

—With regard to the mention of Stanton for the presidency, the New Haven Register says that with Conover for secretary of state, he might run well, for a short pull.

—A convention of tobacco manufacturers of the United States is called to meet at Cleveland, Ohio, on the 17th inst. Delegates are already appointed from Richmond, Cleveland, Chicago, and other points, and the meeting promises to be more largely attended.

MEMPHIS AND CHARLESTON RAILROAD.

We have been furnished with a copy of the thirteenth annual report of the Board of Directors to the stockholders of the Memphis and Charleston Railroad, and as matter of information to our readers, many of whom are directly or indirectly interested in its operations, we give the following abstract of its contents:

The receipts of the road for the year ending 30th June, 1867, were:

From passengers	$910,799 03
From freights	630,886 85
From mails	27,799 64
From express and other sources	86,126 93
	$1,661,612 45

The expenses for the same period were:

Conducting transp'n	$334,096 09
Motive power	338,848 97
Maintenance of way	379,477 00
Maintenance of cars	111,984 58
	$1,314,304 97
Leaving net earnings	$347,257 46

Of the net earnings, $475,687 77 were expended in construction and equipment, adding that much to the value of the road.

While the above is not as favorable as was anticipated at the beginning of the year, the directors deem it a matter of congratulation that, in the face of the extraordinary difficulties with which the road had to contend, that it should be "able to sustain its credit and pay its liabilities—meeting every expense, both ordinary and extraordinary, as they matured—continually adding largely to the value of its property in permanent works and equipment—paying promptly the interest due to the State of Tennessee—and also providing for the payment of the past due coupons on the first mortgage bonds, which are now being paid in New York."

The extraordinary circumstances that militated against the business of the road are briefly summed up as follows: During the first three months of the fiscal year the prevalence of the cholera in Memphis and Nashville, destroying business and driving away travel; the general failure of the cotton and other crops; the very disastrous flood in November last, seriously injuring over two miles of the track in the neighborhood of Corinth, followed by one of the most fatal collisions that ever occurred on the road. The extraordinary and unprecedented freshet in the Tennessee river in March last, by which the road and bridges west of Stevenson were submerged from five to seven feet deep for a distance of nine miles; and the destruction of bridges on connecting roads, putting a stop to all through business for forty days. The impassable condition of the streets of Memphis, rendering transportation of freight between the landing and the depot almost impracticable, and compelling the road to refuse receiving through freights any longer, thus leaving it entirely dependent on its local business for support. In addition to all which, the legislation of Congress, placing under military government ten of the Southern States, immediately following these disasters, had a tendency to destroy all confidence, and to give alarm to business men and capitalists to such an extent that the business of the country had become prostrated, paralyzed, and reduced to the actual wants of life. This combination of circumstances will satisfactorily account for the falling off of business for the last quarter.

Notwithstanding the disastrous season just closed, and the combination of incidents to reduce the aggregate amount of business, it should be gratifying to every Stockholder to know that the gross receipts for the year of $1,661,612 23, are larger than any annual receipts the Company ever had previous to the war, except one—and show most clearly that, with a fair average crop, and an ordinary business season, also a relief from such a combination of disasters as occurred last year, and which can rarely ever occur again in the same space of time, the receipts must be largely increased; and scarcely any combination of circumstances can occur which would increase the expenses. Hence the Board confidently look forward to a very satisfactory increase in the net receipts for the future.

The indebtedness of the Company in funded debt is $3,126,530, and in floating debt, $921,937, of which $429,378 has been provided for, and a considerable amount of the remainder is to the credit of dividends and pay rolls, which are the accumulations from the beginning of the operations of the road, a large proportion of which will probably never be called for, leaving a balance of floating debt actually to be provided for of $253,388 92; of this sum, $100,000 included in bills payable, is on a permanent loan, with collaterals which would more than pay the debt at any time—the payment of which, however, it is not expected will be required for several years.

Provision has been made for the payment of the past due coupons in New York, to be refunded from sales of Second Mortgage Bonds. An agreement has been made with Government for the liquidation of their debt, by the application as credits on same monthly, of all services performed by the Company, and a cash payment of $10,000, to be paid monthly. This will give about twenty months in which to pay this debt, allowing about one-third of it to be paid in transportation.

The report refers to the completion of the lines of road to Louisville, and the more direct line to Nashville, giving the Nashville and Chattanooga railroad a direct all rail line to the Mississippi, as likely to reduce the business of the road to Nashville, as well as the through business to Georgia from St. Louis. The President says:

"It would be folly to try to disguise these facts, so patent to all who will examine them. Is there a practical remedy for them? I think there is, and one by which you will not only reclaim all the business you have lost, but increase it four-fold; and it is one of the necessities that will not only force itself upon you, but the roads in Georgia and South Carolina in connection with you—that is, the building of a road from some point on the line of your road in north Alabama to Atlanta, Georgia.

"From Decatur, Alabama, to Atlanta, a practicable line of road can be built within one hundred and fifty miles, at not above the average cost of your road. This would give you practically an airline road from Memphis to Charleston and Savannah, on the shortest line that it could can be built between the city of Charleston and the Mississippi river, not exceeding six hundred and fifty miles, and to Savannah not exceeding six hundred and thirty-five miles. The completion of this link of road would secure to you a line which could forever successfully compete with all competitors, built or to be built, for the great through business from New York and all the manufacturing districts in New England, and for all imported of manufactured goods to be consumed in the Mississippi valley at the south of Memphis, as it is the shortest rail with the cheapest water connection that can ever be made between the points named.

"It would also secure to you almost the entire trade from St. Louis, the great granary of the west, to supply which western produce the whole of the states of Georgia and South Carolina. You would have the cheapest water transportation known from St. Louis to Memphis, time only two days, and at a cost of not over twenty cents for one hundred pounds. The distance from Memphis to Atlanta would be only three hundred and forty miles, or at least one hundred and twenty miles nearer than any other all rail route from Atlanta to the Mississippi river—Atlanta being the distributing point for Georgia and South Carolina. These advantages must secure you this vast trade, almost without a competitor. By running a day and night through freight train, the time from St. Louis to Atlanta would be reduced to not over four days, and the cost of freight to about one-half or two-thirds of its present cost. If this road was finished, it would reduce the time on freight between New York and Memphis to from five to five and a half days. These results, in both time and cost, would certainly secure a very heavy business to the line, and your cars would go and come fully loaded, both east and west, at remunerating rates, and you would be secure against all competition.

"The next most important connection for your road to look to for a large and permanent increase of business, is that of the completion of the line from Decatur to Montgomery. The latter would bring you in direct contact with the extensive coal and iron fields of Central Alabama, within seventy-five miles of the central portion of your road, which would certainly give you a very large tonnage, both for coal and iron, for local consumption along the line of your road. It would also enable you to secure an immense lumber trade from the pine forests on Sand mountain, within twenty-five to thirty miles of your road, the lumber from which is so much needed, and is in so much demand, in the Tennessee valley.

"The opening up of a direct line of railway to this vast field of mineral wealth, at no distant day destined to be the Birmingham of America, will open up new sources of wealth and employment that will draw to it millions of capital, and an immense population of industrious and enterprising citizens, for its development, that must create a large demand for western produce to support them, from which source you will derive a large and profitable business by way of Memphis, as well as by the Tennessee river."

In closing our abstract of this report it is but justice to remark that the highly creditable condition of the finances of the Company, the far-reaching sagacity which directs its policy, and the admirable condition of the road—its splendid equipment and efficient administration—speak well for the intelligence, zeal and energy of those to whom its management has been entrusted, and we hope the day is not far distant when the Stockholders will reap an abundant reward from the capital which they have invested in this important enterprise.

Night Dispatches.

[WESTERN ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORTS.]

WASHINGTON, September 7.—The Intelligencer says that during the deliberations of the cabinet yesterday, it is understood that it became evident that, in the opinion of every member present, the legal effect of the contemplated amnesty proclamation would be to relieve all persons included within its terms from all disqualifications, as well as all penalties, incurred by complicity in the late rebellion, and, of course, so far as the action of the general government is concerned, from all disability as to the right of suffrage.

In consequence of a clerical order in the public debt statement referred to in the dispatches published this morning, the secretary of the treasury has decided to make out a new and correct statement, to which will be added a report of the condition of the public debt on the 1st inst., which will show a reduction in the debt of $264,906,206 38.

Under the new bonded warehouse regulations just adopted by the treasury department, the restrictions heretofore imposed upon the transfer of spirits stored from warehouse, class B, is done away, and all bonded goods are allowed to be moved from one district to another on consignment from one collector to the other. These regulations go into immediate effect.

There is authority for stating that it has been determined to furnish every officer of the United States army with a copy of the recent proclamation of civil supremacy, with suitable injunctions of loyalty and obedience to the laws.

NEW ORLEANS, September 7.—In assuming command of the fifth military district, Gen. Griffin says all existing orders will remain in force. The district staff officers will continue to perform their customary duties at headquarters in New Orleans until further ordered.

Gen. Ord telegraphs from Vicksburg that that place has been placed under quarantine, and boats from New Orleans must land at the station two miles below the city.

There were forty-three deaths from yellow fever during the twenty-fours ending at 6 a. m.

RICHMOND, September 7.—Yesterday a negro named Haur, who bought a first class ticket north of Washington, was put off of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad train near this city, having refused to ride in a negro car. He was about to sue the company, but to-day it was compromised by the company paying him $200 damages. This is the first case of the kind in the south where a negro has received damages.

BERLIN, September 7.—A pacific note has been issued from the Prussian foreign office, in which the note of M. Moutier, the French foreign minister, is alluded to as highly satisfactory to the Prussian government.

W. A. STROZZI, Professor of French, respectfully informs the citizens of Memphis that he will be pleased to receive a part of the patronage of this intelligent community on the following terms:

One of two scholars at his room, $10 each per month; three or more scholars at his room, $8 each per month; For one or two scholars at their residence, according to the distance; a class in families according to the number and distance. Mr. STROZZI will give three lessons per week, and no scholar can enter for less than three calendar months.

Mr. STROZZI was very much surprised to see the card published in this paper on the 24th of August, signed "M. A. E. Morgan;" and he thinks that it is hardly necessary to suppress a part at least. His card on the 17th of August ought to have been sufficient, as his name as Italian Professor was by him even before already taken off from the roll of Professors, as he had no possible reason for doing so. Mr. S. has left at Messrs. J. W. Falls & Co.'s a large number of testimonials for his ability, skill and success as a Professor of the French Language. Mr. S. can be found at his room in Jackson building, corner Main and Gayoso, room 32, 3d story. Address: Box 1,067. Hours, from 9 to 12 a.m., and at 5 p.m. every day.

KAVANAGH & DECKER'S

BILLIARD TABLES

THE most reliable Cushion used on Billiard Tables is the

CAT-GUT CUSHION,

Manufactured by KAVANAGH & DECKER, and Patented Dec. 18, 1866. (See Scientific American, Vol. 16, No. 11)

It is the only Cushion that possesses all the qualities essential to a Perfect Cushion. It is the most elastic and most durable Cushion ever offered to the billiard-playing public, as is abundantly proven by the great demand for it since its introduction. The peculiarity which distinguishes the Cat-Gut Cushion and renders it superior to all others, is the tightened cord of cat-gut which overlies the face and edge of the rubber and running the full length of the Cushion, which prevents the ball from bedding into the rubber and jumping from the table. The addition of the cat-gut cord also adds much to the elasticity of the Cushion.

The Cat-Gut Cushion has already been applied to over 1500 tables, which are in constant use. It can be applied to tables of any make, for $75 per set.

Kavanagh & Decker's Factory, at the corner of Centre and Canal streets, N. Y., is the most complete of its kind in the world. WANTED—THE PATENT

AURORA OIL.

We want men every where to study their own INTEREST. The right to manufacture and sell the Patent Aurora Oil in a single county will make more money to the purchaser in three months than the largest farm in your State will make in a whole year. The Aurora Oil actually costs less than one-half the price of Coal Oil, and the illuminating power of the Aurora Oil is as much superior to the Coal Oil as the Coal Oil is to a tallow candle, and is SO MUCH explosive than a tallow candle. Any Lamp that will burn Coal Oil will burn the Aurora Oil. It does not smoke the chimney—it does not smell—it will not grease or stain the finest linen—not even a white cloth. The machinery for its manufacture is inexhaustible, one man can make seventy-five barrels per day. No machinery required. We will pay your fare to and from the city of Memphis and bills while here, if we cannot prove all, and even more, than we have stated. A single county is a small fortune to the man of enterprise, and the right to a State is untold wealth.

GRAND OPENING.---The "Jimplecute" Saloon, two doors south Madison street, Center alley, will be reopened on a magnificent scale to-morrow morning.

FIRST BALE FROM BOLIVAR.—The first bale of new cotton from Bolivar county, Miss., was received to-day by W. K. Hill, Strange & Co., and was raised by W. M. Pride, of Pride's landing. The staples is good, classes low middling, and is worth 28c.

GONE NORTH.—Col. S. B. Beaumont, superintendent of the metropolitan police, left by steamer last night for the north. He proposes to be absent about three weeks.

RETURNED.—J. W. Westcott, (of the law firm of Kerr, Westcott & Stahl), United States commissioner, No. 220 Second street, returned yesterday from a three weeks' trip to Michigan much improved in health. He may be found at the office as usual.

SENT UP.—Stealing oil is not a very profitable business, especially when the culprit happens to get caught. So thought Jack Smith yesterday, when Mr. Justice Miller sent him to jail to await the action of the grand jury. The case was so clear against Jack that in justice up other course could be pursued.

BIG FREE LUNCH, at the "Jimplecute" Saloon, two doors south Madison street, Center alley, to-morrow morning, at 11 o'clock, the largest and grandest Free Lunch ever offered to the lovers of good eating.

O. F. PRESCOTT & CO.—Who is it that has lived in Memphis a fortnight that has not heard of this firm? They are known far and wide, and are gentlemen of integrity, worth and enterprise, and enjoy the confidence, in the highest degree, of the mercantile community. It is only necessary to say that they have received their fall stock of lamps, oils, etc., and occupy their old stand on Jefferson street, between Main and Second.

ONE OF THE BEST.—The house of Wormeley, Joy & Co., cotton factors and commission merchants, No. 310 Front street, is one of the most firm and well established houses in Memphis. For years they have enjoyed the confidence of a large number of our country friends, and are again in the field as bright and fresh as ever. Their New Orleans house, conducted by W. S. Pickett & Co., gives them increased facilities for conducting the cotton business. See their card in another column.

The net proceeds of the tournament is to be appropriated for the purpose of adorning the graves of the Confederate soldiers. INSURANCE.—It is gratifying for us to announce to our readers that that old and favorably known institution, the DeSoto insurance company still exists, and that its card can be found elsewhere in our columns. One by one the old "landmarks" of Memphis appear in our advertising columns; and it is no less gratifying to greet them now than it is to announce to our host of friends that they, like the APPEAL, have survived "flood, fire, famine and persecution," and that our pioneer in the insurance business, Mr. Lonsdale, has charge of the business of the company. By patronizing home institutions we adopt the most speedy, as well as the most effectual, means of establishing our city's prosperity.

GONE TO HIS REST.—James A Culbertson, of the first Louisiana cavalry, died in this city on Friday, at the Commercial hotel. His disease was what is termed hasty consumption. He, with his wife and brother, arrived here a few days since on their way to his home in New Orleans, but on account of his extreme illness, were unable to proceed further; the flat had gone forth and "this spirit returned to the God who gave it." Lieut. Culbertson was a brave soldier, and fought all through the war. In having the credit of the first blood or first knock down. Of course all parties were very indignant that the police should attempt to interfere with the liberties of the subject, and not allow them to pummel each other to their heart's content. But so it was. Geriously, it is time these disgraceful affairs were put a stop to. The idea of men making bull dogs of themselves for a little money and an unenviable reputation should have been expelled long since.

FAST TIME.—By information received yesterday, we learn that the Great Western Dispatch and Union Express Line transport freight in seven days from New York to Memphis, or vice versa. The clever agent at this point, Enoch Taylor, Esq., whose office is 304 Front street, will give any further information required. This line has always given the most entire satisfaction, and it will doubtless acquit itself in the future as in the past.

ATTENTION DISTILLERS.—New Stills built to order and Second Hand Stills for sale at Hollenberg & Oertel's, Coppersmiths and Sheet Iron Workers, No. 346 Second street. Steamboat work promptly attended to. jy5 dawtf

A WONDER IN ITS WAY.

MAMMOTH DRUG HOUSE OF MEMPHIS.

A Brief Description.

The prosperity of this city is due in a great measure to the enterprise and industry of her merchants, who by years of fair dealing and honest labor accumulate sufficient means to fit up and stock their houses with the finest and best qualities of merchandise of all kinds, thereby enabling our citizens and small dealers, as well as country merchants, to purchase goods in Memphis on such liberal terms as to prevent their going or sending east for their supplies. This thought was suggested to us by a visit to the most extensive wholesale and retail

DRUG STORE IN THE CITY,

that of Messrs. Mansfield & Higbee, Nos. 300 and 302 Main street, which is fitted up in a style of magnificence not to be excelled by any house in the south or southwest, or perhaps this side of New York. The passer by is struck with the general appearance of the arrangements of the establishment, such as can be seen from the outside, and on entering, is astonished to find the large and admirably well selected stock of drugs, medicines, perfumeries, soaps, toilette, fancy goods, etc. In the rear, the visitor finds shelves and drawers, from floor to ceiling, well filled with dry paints, drugs, and the articles required for immediate use or sale usually kept in a well regulated drug store, as well as the spacious countingroom of the house. Ascending the spiral stairway we find ourselves in the upper or fifth story, which contains nothing but hollow glassware, the principal part of which is composed of bottles for their excellent preparations, of which we shall speak hereafter. Descending we find ourselves in the

DRUG STORE ROOM,

where the bulk of their immense stock of drugs is kept. Also, probably the largest and best assorted stock of window glass to be found in the country. It is of Pittsburg manufacture, and of all sizes. Next we enter the packing room, where all goods for shipment are carefully packed, marked and sent to the lower or ground floor. Still further on we find

THE PATENT MEDICINE DEPARTMENT.

The preparations manufactured and put up by this enterprising firm, deserve more than a passing notice. The ointments and alteratives prepared from Dr. Gibert's recipes, are of long standing and fully appreciated. But Mansfield & Higbee have excelled themselves in putting before the public, in a cheap and portable form, the justly celebrated which for chills and fever has attained a reputation not excelled by any preparation of the kind extant. Although it has been but a short time before the public, the demand for the medicine is so great that it is with difficulty supplied. In addition to this, their Mississippi Diarrhea Cordial has met with almost unequaled success, and during the sickly season through which our citizens have just passed, was doubtless the means of preventing much sickness and saving many valuable lives. Their Highland Bitters, Rheumatic Compound and Magic Liniment are preparations of long standing and have a large sale. The immense quantity of these goods, put up by them, gives employment to several young girls, who are actively engaged in labeling and wrapping the bottles, preparing them for the packing case. The visitor next finds himself in the laboratory, which is worked by steam. The engine and boiler being so arranged as to prevent the possibility of an accident. Here, all kinds of fluid extracts and syrups are manufactured, under the supervision of the most experienced chemists, the great care being taken that everything shall be of the purest description. The arrangement for distilling is of the most approved kind known. Adjoining the laboratory, in the basement, is the where a very large stock of paints, oils, turpentine, varnishes, tar, pitch, rosin and everything in that lines stored.

TEXAS TONIC SYRUP,

PAINT AND OIL CELLAR,

IN THE WINE CELLAR,

in the front of the basement, we find the wine cellar, which is stocked with wines, brandies, whisky, gin and all other kinds of liquors, malt and vinious, of the purest description, that can be purchased. Next the wine cellar is the

SODA WATER APPARATUS,

which is capable of supplying that article as fast as it can be drawn from the fonts above. The syrups are manufactured from fruits, and a glass of the beverage is really delicious to the thirsty. The font above is the most elegant in the city; the fountains, tastily arranged, lending beauty to the view—a look making one almost forget his thirst. The work of painting, decorating and fitting up the store, was done under the immediate supervision of M. H. Baldwin, the well-known architect, and reflects much credit on his professional skill and judgment. The cornices, counters, etc., are gotten up regardless of expense, in the most elegant style. To describe the main store would take up too much of our space. It was our intention only to give our readers a brief outline of the parts not visible to the passer-by. The proprietors,

MANSFIELD & HIGBEE,

may well point with pride to their house as being most perfect in all its appointments, and the stranger visiting our Memphis will not have seen it to advantage, should he depart without paying a visit to this establishment. It is alike a credit to the proprietors and an ornament as well as honor to the city. The old customers of the house will find the popular and genial Jake Wood there, as usual, ready to greet them with a smile, and serve them as in days of yore; also, Walter Drew and a staff of assistants, polite and attentive, in every department. Before leaving we paid a visit to the

which we consider one of the most important departments in a well regulated drug store. It is elegantly fitted up with all the modern conveniences, and presided over by our clever friend and accomplished druggist, E. J. Conson. The proprietors have been especially fortunate in securing his services, as he has served a long apprenticeship at the business, and is recommended by our best physicians as one of the most correct druggists in the city.

In conclusion, we urge upon our people the absolute necessity of patronizing home institutions. Why send to the east of any where else for drugs and patent medicines, when you can buy them at home on as good terms as the east? If the people will only support each other in their enterprises, the day is not far distant when the south will be self-sustaining in every way. Had we more men of the pluck and gosheaditiveness of Mansfield & Higbee in our midst, all classes would be far better off. We trust that their heavy investment may be amply rewarded.

EXCURSION TO LOOKOUT MOUNTAIN.—In order to afford our citizens the opportunity of visiting Lookout Mountain, the Memphis and Charleston railroad will issue excursion tickets, commencing September 7th, from Memphis and all stations on the railroad, to Chattanooga and return, for fare one way. Tickets good during the month of September, allowing the excursionists to lay over at any points on the line, and return within that period. Fare from Memphis to Chattanooga and return, $17; omnibus fare from Chattanooga to the top of the Mountain and return, $2. The grand gathering of parties from Nashville, Knoxville, Atlanta, etc., will be on top of Lookout Mountain on the 11th and 12th of September, and the train from Memphis for that occasion will leave here at 6 o'clock on the evening of the 10th.

No arsenic, or any other poison, enters into the composition of the Texas Tonic Syrup. It is purely vegetable, and never fails to cure the most obstinate case of chills. We have known one single bottle to cure two or three cases.

MANSFIELD & HIGBEE,
Sole Proprietors.

Yellow Fever and Small Pox are no longer incurable. The introduction of Lane's Indian Remedy has produced a revolution in the medical world, and cases heretofore considered hopeless yield at once to its powerful treatment. Certificates without number can be shown where Maj. Lane's Medicine has worked marvellous cures, and its rapidly increasing sales show its growing popularity. We call our readers especial attention to the advertisement in another column.

Hesperian Balm.—No article for the complexion has ever pleased the ladies so much as the peerless "Hesperian Balm." It is the best discovery for preventing and curing Tan, Sunburn, Freckles, etc., and completely takes the place of Lilly-white, Toilet Powders, and all other injurious preparations.

SECOND DRAWING

—OF THE—

Southern Asylum LAND COMPANY,

TO TAKE PLACE AT

HERNANDO, MISS.,

AUGUST, 1867.

THE First Drawing, which took place at Hernando, Miss., on 15th inst., was attended with unusual success, which is fresh in the recollection of the enterprise to that event. $17,000 worth of tickets having been sold, a like amount of property was drawn for, under the supervision of gentlemen selected by the ticket holders present. The utmost harmony and good feeling prevailed those present, and, as will be seen from the subjoined certificate of the Managers, the affair was conducted to a close in a highly gratifying and satisfactory manner:

HERNANDO, MISS., June 15, 1867.

We hereby certify that the above report of the First Drawing of the Southern Asylum is correct, and that the proceedings were characterized by the spirit of fairness and justness unsurpassed by any drawing of which we have any knowledge. The Managers of the Company placed the tickets and wheels under our sole management and control.

MEMPHIS APPEAL

A FALSE STEP.

BY ELIZABETH BARRETT BROWNING.

Sweet, thou hast trod on a heart.
Pass! there's a world full of men.
And women as fair as thou art
Must do such a thing now and then.

Thou only hast stepped unaware,
Malice not one can impute;
And why should a heart have been there
In the way of a fair woman's foot?

It was not a stone that could trip,
Nor was it a thorn that could rend;
Put up thy proud under lip!
'Twas merely the heart of a friend.

And yet, peradventure, one day,
When sitting alone at the glass,
Remarking the bloom going away,
Where the smile in its dimplement was,

And seeking around there in vain,
From hundreds who flattered before;
Such a word as "oh, not in the main
Do I hold thee less precious, but more!"

Thou'lt sigh, very like, on thy part:
"Of all I have known or can know,
I wish I had only that heart
I trod upon ages ago!"

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL,
MEMPHIS, September 7, 1867.

Gold opened in New York at 42½, and at noon went up to 42¾. In this market sales were light and made at 41c in most cases, but a few exceptional lots were taken at 41½c.

Silver is steady at 30 to 32c buying.

The demand for exchange is not equal to the supply. The few cotton bills offered are taken at par to ¼ discount. Our banks check on New York and Cincinnati at ¼ premium, and on St. Louis at ¼ premium.

City scrip is weaker though the offerings continue small. The very light present demand for this money is the presumed cause of the decline. Dealers buy at 52 to 53c and sell at 54 to 55c.

There is nothing doing in bonds, stocks, or county warrants.

Police scrip is also declining. Brokers buy at 70 to 72c and sell at 75c.

The reported failure of Silas L. Drew & Co., Boston dry goods dealers, with liabilities of a quarter of a million, creates something of a sensation in the business circles of that city. One New York firm is said to suffer to the amount of $35,000.

In France the consumption of tobacco increases rapidly. All sales of tobacco are made by the government, and whilst, in 1789, the government received a revenue of but $6,000,000 from these sales, in 1865, this had increased to $35,000,000. At present over 600,000 pounds of tobacco are annually sold in France.

We now pay taxes, internal and external, on sixteen thousand different articles.

The following facts in relation to the money order department of the postal service are interesting, showing, as they do, the rapidity with which business has increased. The system was begun on the 1st of November, 1864, when one hundred and forty offices were opened. By the 30th of June, 1865, $1,360,122 had been transmitted, the revenue paid to the department amounting to $11,534. In 1866 the number of offices was increased to four hundred and seventy-three, and the amount of business done reached $3,977,259. The revenue was $35,779. During the fiscal year ending June 30th, the number of offices was seven hundred and sixty-seven, except in the last quarter of the fiscal year, when sixty-eight more were added. During last year the experiment paid all expenses, and left a surplus in the hands of the government. It is estimated that the business amounted to $10,000,000. During the present year seventy-nine more postal offices will be put in operation, making a total of one thousand two hundred and thirty-five. During the last fiscal year the postoffice in New York issued eleven thousand eight hundred and seventeen orders and paid eighty-six thousand and seventy-nine orders. For orders drawn on the office, $1,387,977 was paid, and for orders issued $312,097 was received.

There was so little doing in cotton today that quotations are merely nominal. The buyers have all dropped out, and it is a rare sight to see a sample carried around for a market. Receipts for the day, 54 bales. Shipments, 141 bales. Receipts for the week, 397 bales. Shipments, 373 bales.

The general markets were not active for Saturday. The shipments by river comprised the bulk of sales for the day. Clear sides advance daily and are very firm at our quotations. Corn is very scarce, but the demand is light. Selling at $1 15 @ $1 20 for white and yellow, and in a few instances $1 25 is asked for choice white. Meal is held at $5 50 to $5 75 on landing and $6 from store. Oats, dull at 70 to 72. Bran, scarce and firm at $1 from store. Hay is very dull. Prime timothy sells on levee at $20, and in store at $22 to $23. Prairie, $18 to $19. India bagging, 29 to 30c; Kentucky power loom, 28c; hand, 27 to 27c; machine rope, 11 to 12c. Potatoes are not plentiful; selling at $4 to $4 50. Onions, scarce $4 50 to $5. Apples are in good supply and held at $2 to $2 50, as to condition. Choice butter, 29 to 30c; common, 15 to 25c. Chickens are dull—young, $4 50 to $5; old, $5 50 to $6. Coffee, Rio, 25 to 27½c. Eggs cost at 27 to 30c. Flour, dull; fine, $6 50 to $7; superfine, $7 50 to $8; X, $9 to $10; XX, $10 50 to $11; XXX, and all fancy brands, $12 to $13. Lard in tierces, 13 to 13½c; kegs, 14½ to 15c. Mess pork, $26 to $26 50; mess beef, $16 50; clear sides, firm at 18 to 19c; shoulders, 14½ to 15c; canvassed hams, 18 to 20c; sugar cured, 21 to 23c. Salt, $3 25 per bbl. Sugar, 17 to 20c for crushed and clarified; 14 to 16c for brown. Western Reserve cheese, 14 to 16c; factory, 15 to 16c. Whisky, common, $5 to $2.

Forty car loads of miscellaneous merchandise will arrive in this city to-day over the Memphis and Charleston railroad. This is doing a fine business for the season, and the Brownlow clique should have had a nice thing had they got their fingers into the treasury of this great thoroughfare.

Four hundred and sixty miles of the Union Pacific railroad are now finished, and it is expected that the track to the Rocky mountains, five hundred and seventeen miles, will all be laid in about a month.

Printing cloths, the Providence Journal says, are dull, notwithstanding the steady advance in the price of prints during the week, the market for cloths has been quite strong, and the prices are hardly so firm, pending poor encouragement to the manufacturer, unless otherwise instructed. Our stock of BAGGING, ROPE, IRON TIES and PLANTATION SUPPLIES generally will always be found full and complete, and offered on as low terms as can be had in this market. Thankful for our numerous patrons for the liberal favors hitherto extended us, we respectfully solicit a continuance of the same, pledging every effort on our part to give satisfaction to all our customers.

Major J. J. BUSBY, whose connection with our house still continues, will be pleased to receive a call from his numerous friends when in the city.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

Yesterday was a cloudy, dark day, threatening rain, but up to a late hour it did not come. The river here falls steadily. The Ohio is going down, with about thirty-eight inches to Louisville. Of the upper Mississippi the St. Louis Democrat says: The decline continues in all the rivers. Business fair for the season. The improvement of the crops along the upper rivers southward, has scarce begun, yet all the boats running above do not bring all that offers. In the meantime the water to Keokuk is four feet; trouble will be immediate at and above the rapids. Navigation continues badly obstructed in the Missouri. Matters look solemn in Missouri river boating. There is only seven and a half feet to Kansas City and falling, and Memphis and other packets met with trouble below Cairo.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Business was very good on the landing yesterday, and the local packets went out well loaded. The Rowena especially had a fine trip. Next Saturday will be more lively, as the Dan. Able takes her place in line on that day.

The steamer Commercial, Capt. Ashford, leaves for White river on Tuesday next. She is staunch and reliable. Mr. Morton is chief clerk.

The St. Patrick resumes her place in the Vicksburg trade on Tuesday, and leaves at 5 p.m. for that port. Capt. Edson, an energetic and reliable officer, commands.

The Mollie Hambleton is the regular St. Francis river packet for Tuesday at 5 p.m. Capt. Bowman is master.

Captain Crane, of the Belle Memphis, has secured his fine packet for Cairo and St. Louis on Monday at 5 p.m. In the office may be found the clever Geo. Deane.

The new steamer H. W. Allen is at the Louisville wharf having the finishing touches put on her upper works. Her cabin will soon be finished and she will be down this way early in October.

No steamer is compelled to use more than one safety valve, and any valve may be selected by the engineer or captain of the boat.

Capt. John H. Buck now commands the T. L. McGill. Capt. Ed. Callahan takes command of the Kilgour.

Mr. C. T. Geoghegan, of the cotton house of R. Bayliss, went north yesterday on trip in which business will be combined with pleasure, and neither of which will be neglected. He will return on the Belle Lee, and we would not be a particle astonished if the Lee should not be the only "belle" who returns with him. We commend Mr. G. to our brethren everywhere.

Capt. Tapp, owner of the Southerner, left for Helena yesterday evening on the Rowena. Our friend Frolich, of the Record, also departed for Searcy. What wonderful tales he will tell about the Mammoth Cave, the Front street show, etc.

The Deer Lodge, in descending the Missouri, ran into an army of grasshoppers which extended ten miles in width. They had a hard time jumping the river.

The Olive Branch, one of the finest of the Atlantic and Mississippi Steamship line, will be in port to-day and leave for New Orleans at 5 p.m. Capt. Isaac Jones, her master, is one of the best officers on the river, and will extend every attention to passengers.

The R. C. Gray came in last evening from Cincinnati. She will leave on a return trip to-morrow at 5 p.m. She is light and will go through without trouble. Capt. Anderson commands and Mr. Young is clerk.

A movement is on foot to operate a number of boats between St. Louis and New Orleans, outside of the Atlantic line, beginning next spring. The Johns Kilgour, T. L. McGill and Stonewall. There are indications of the rates being lower during the season, as at least three separate lines are in the field—the Atlantic line, the barge line and the so-called outside boats.

In the circuit court of Ohio county, Indiana, a jury under the ruling of the judge, in a case to recover wharfage, decided that where the public have used property bordering upon a navigable stream, such as the Ohio river, for twenty years or more, with the consent of the owners, for any purpose, that constitutes a dedication to the public for that use, and the award was given to the defendants.

The Greenback, government boat, has arrived at Wheeling for the purpose of removing the sunken coal boat opposite North Wheeling. The boat has remained an obstruction to navigation for upward of two years, and has been the cause of two or three disasters. At the time it sunk it was in tow by the Bengal Tiger, and was run into by the steamer Pickett. Afterward the Oil City was capsized by running upon the wreck, and next, this summer, a flat laden with stone was sunk by it.
